MY STORY

My journey with Stampin' Up! began when I joined in 2009. My motivation was to fund my growing stamping hobby and I wanted to share, with other crafters, the products I had fallen in love with. At the time I had young children at Kindy and Primary School so I began with a small number of classes and parties, all planned around my family commitments. Through this new adventure, I met new friends and enjoyed purchasing craft supplies I couldn't have otherwise afforded. Then in 2011, my youngest child started Primary School and I had more time on my hands so, with the support of my family, we decided to step up my Stampin' Up! business to generate additional household income. Over the following years, as my children have become more independent, Stampin' Up! has provided the perfect opportunity to change and grow with them, while still being flexible and available for my family.
